CAPTAIN HUMPHREY VISITS IN WICHITA

Officers Had Hand in Starting Revolution.

WAS SENT TO PANAMA

Former Wichitan Talks of United States Army.

Captain Chauncey Humphrey of the United States army, spent a day and a half in the city visiting his parents on the West Side, going away yesterday afternoon. Captain Humphrey grew up in Wichita and was appointed to West Point by Jerry Simpson when that noted Kansan represented the Seventh district in congress. Some think that the captain will be a great man some day and that he will have a place in the history of the country.

It was current gossip in Washington during the past winter that Captain Humphrey had a big hand in the determination of this government to bring its policy in favor of the building of the isthmian canal to a fixed fact a few months ago. The captain, of course, denies that he had anything to do with it, but it is a significant fact that he arrived in Washington from a secret mission in Panama three days before the revolution was touched off in that country. The event followed his movements so rapidly that there is reason for the suspicion that he had a part in the clever work of the Washington government.

Color is given to the suspicion, besides, by the circumstance that when Senator Hoar and the Democratic party showed their hands in opposition to the Panama treaty to such an extent that it became necessary for the president to send a special message to congress on the subject, General Young, then at the head of the army, ordered Captain Humphrey to Washington from a distance. And it is said that the most important features of the president's message to the senate were based on facts communicated to him at the White House the previous night by Captain Humphrey. Gossip ran to the extent even that Captain Humphrey's written statement as to certain facts were embodied entirely in the message.

It is known that Captain Humphrey, while in Panama immediately preceding the revolution, traveled about as an Englishman, another circumstance in favor of the suspicion that he was there on an important mission.

Like all army officers, Captain Humphrey is a practical soldier when you want to get anything out of him in relation to national policy or army strategy, but otherwise he is a most interesting talker.

Another report current among officials at Washington during the winter was that while traveling in Central America as an Englishman Captain Humphrey fell in with a German army officer who was traveling as a commercial drummer, and that from him he learned that he procured for the German government complete interior sketches of the defenses of this government in Porto Rico, including the number and caliber of the guns. The story went further that Captain Humphrey reported this to the war department, where it caused a furor and resulted in important changes and improvements in the defenses of that island.

Captain Humphrey is now in charge of the United States army exhibit at the St. Louis fair, which is, in itself, a big thing. His duty is to superintend the instructive features of the exhibit, such as to show how the army can locate an enemy by searchlights, how wireless telegraph messages are sent, and such things. He is in charge of the great 26-inch gun—the largest ever made—and it is interesting to hear him tell how it is operated. It carries a shell twenty-six miles—from Wichita to Newton, for instance—and by a system of geometrical angles can lay it down upon any desired spot under favorable conditions. The bore of this gun is so large that a man of average size can walk through it on his hands and knees.

Speaking about the material for the army, the captain says none is better than that which comes from the country. He thinks that the farmer boy has the stuff in him to make the best soldier or sailor in the world.

The cheap rates consist of a one-way fare plus 50 cents for the round trip to Colorado Springs, Glenwood Springs, Pueblo, Denver, Salt Lake City and Ogden, Utah.

To almost all lake and summer resorts in the east round trip tickets will be sold for something like one-way fare plus $2. On these tickets stopovers of ten days will be allowed the purchaser either going or returning at the world's fair at St. Louis.

SPOUSE DIDN'T GO.

Wife Was There to Keep Husband from Leaving.

There was an interesting scene of domestic tragedy enacted at the Frisco passenger station yesterday afternoon a few minutes prior to the departure of the east bound train which is due to leave Wichita at 1:30 o'clock.

A man and a woman, evidently husband and wife, engaged in a lively scuffle. The cause was due to the woman trying to prevent her husband from leaving on the train. Just as he reached the steps of one of the coaches his wife snatched the man's hat from his head. He turned to take hold of her. In the mix-up the man was torn to pieces in the scuffle, and his wife fell to the platform, at the same time pulling the man down. The man broke loose from his wife's clutches and again started for the train, but a friend prevented him from boarding it by running alongside and pushing the man away as the train left the station. The return portion of a round trip ticket belonging to the man was torn to pieces in the scuffle. Following the departure of the train the man and his wife adjusted their wearing apparel, which was considerably awry as a result of the scuffle, and started up street arm in arm.

Mrs. H. C. Conley went to McCune yesterday, where she will spend a few days visiting with her parents. Mr. Conley is commercial agent for the Frisco.

B. H. Norton, stenographer in the commercial offices of the Frisco, went to New England last night, where he will spend a day visiting with friends.

FAIR WAS SUCCESS.

Ann's Father May Sue the Carnival Association.

Both old and young were out last night to take part in the closing acts and scenes of the spring carnival. The final scene was a general pitched battle with confetti. Everybody threw the feathery stuff and everybody received full value and benefit. To say that the carnival was a triumphant success is not making it strong enough, for it was an overwhelming success in every respect.

Parker's Amusement company have proven that it has the greatest show on earth, which the people of Wichita willingly attest. Wichita, one and all, and the people for miles around were out to see the sights. Even when it was pouring down rain they came. They waded through mud and water to get a sight of the exhibitions. The company throughout is a wonderful aggregation, and can go any place on earth and draw a crowd.

Parker's shows were all open last night and everything was running full blast. Music, merry-go-rounds, Ferris wheels and everything was in action, and the people were patronizing them.

One show, although it is not the best, should be given a favorable mention. That is "How Old is Ann?" The minute people go into this show they begin to laugh, and the next thing they try to keep from falling from their seats, the world goes around and everything is topsy-turvy.

Fact, there was never born to us any Ann, and Ann is a myth, for all of which I pray damages in the sum of $20,000 and annuity payable monthly to Ann.

DR. R. N. GOODWIN
217 St. Francis, Wichita, Kan.

This morning at 7 o'clock the company will leave the city for Independence, where they will show the coming week. They had rather a bad week to show, but the crowds came and the company made money just the same.

It was reported last evening that Ann's father will sue the carnival association through President Irwin. He sets forth the following facts: Ann's age was not 12 years, nor was her sister 21 years of age. When Ann's sister was 21 years of age, Ruth Sophia was 12 years of age, and prior to Ruth's birthday eleven children, all boys, were born to Ann's father and mother, and following Ann's age there were six children born and none of the children was Ann, for all the children, save Ruth Sophia, were boys, and Ann's sister, aged 21 years, therefore Ann's age cannot be accurately established, for Ann's age was not recorded in the family record until she was 12 years of age, and no problem can solve Ann's age.
